Editorial Matters

I was at the World Fantasy Convention in Chicago when Don Wollheim died. Elsie Wollheim called my office and left a message on my machine, which was not picked up until later. I called back and, on offer the condolences, then phoned just a few people of Don to write appreciations. Fred Pohl wrote his right away and brought it to the hotel. Carolyn Cherrvky was at a convention, but her brother was able to right away and bring it to the hotel.
